CHAMPIONS TAKE CLOSE GAME FROM KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS

After fighting for five and one half innings without a run being scored and for four of them without a man passing second, the A. C. Sunset League team finally scored in the sixth against the Knights of Columbus winning the first extra-inning game of the season. The winning run came after one was down on a base on balls, a steal, and two hits, Bill Leary hitting out the left which allowed Ralph Brackett to score.

Both George McPheters and Paul Bailey pitched good ball and the game was remarkably free from errors, only one being recorded and that had no effect on the score. A fast double play by Bailey, Hamilton and Wilkinson in the fifth, made with the bases full, prevented runs crossing for the Champions, and was a feature play of the game.

The Game

1st Inning.—Wilkinson and Sullivan were fanned by McPheters, Bailey grounded to Bruce and was thrown out at first. No hits, no errors, no runs.

McPheters flied to Kenneally, Bruce flied to Molognion, and Kenneally got under W. Brackett's fly for the third out. No hits, no errors, no runs.

2d Inning.—Hamilton, one of last season's stars making his initial appearance for the season belated the bat for the K. of C. grounded out to W. Brackett. Molognion flied to Thompson, Kenneally walked but was out striding, K. Brackett to Bruce. No hits, no errors, no runs.

R. Brackett flied out to Kenneally, Sarrota threw Moore out at first on a grounder. Leary was passed, Howard flied to Wilkinson. No hits, no errors, no runs.

3d Inning.—Sarrota out on a grounder to Bill Brackett. Driscoll drew a pass, O'Brien grounded to C. Brackett and was thrown out at first. Wilkinson walked but was out attempting to steal, R. Brackett and Moore forcing him off the base line. No hits, no errors, no runs.

Thompson beat out a bunt, C. Brackett flied to Kenneally, McPheters flied to Sarrota, Bruce struck out. One hit, no errors, no runs.

4th Inning.—Sullivan fanned, Bailey flied to Thompson, C. Brackett nailed Hamilton's foul fly for the third out. No hits, no errors, no runs.

W. Brackett flied to Kenneally, Ralph Brackett singled with a drive to left, Moore flied to Molognion in center, Leary forced Brackett at second with a grounder, Sarrota to Kenneally. One hit, no errors, no runs.

5th Inning.—Molognion was hit by a pitched ball, Kenneally bunted safe, Sarrota fanned, Driscoll out on a grounder, Bruce to Moore, O'Brien was thrown out at first on a grounder to Charlie Brackett. One hit, no errors, no runs.

Howard was hit but was forced out on an attempted sacrifice by Thompson.

ADMIRAL SIMS PUT IN CHARGE IN IRISH WATERS

Has General Direction of the Operations of Allied Naval Forces.

London, June 20.—Vice Admiral William S. Sims, U. S. N., has been appointed to take general charge of the operations of the allied naval forces in Irish waters.

Admiral Sims will act in this capacity while the British naval commander-in-chief is absent from his post for a period, the official announcement of his appointment explains. The American admiral's flag, meanwhile, has been hoisted at the allied senior officer in these waters.

The text of the official statement reads:

"During a short absence of the British naval commander-in-chief, on the coast of Ireland, Vice Admiral Sims of the United States navy has hoisted his flag as senior allied officer in general charge of operations of the allied naval forces in Irish waters."

Admiral Has Big Undertaking in Charge.

Washington, June 20.—A brief message from London yesterday brought the navy department its first news of the appointment of Vice Admiral Sims to command the allied naval forces in Irish waters during the absence of the commander of that district. The department had no other information as to the new responsibilities placed upon the American officer.

The Washington government has given Admiral Sims wide powers to enable him to meet any situation that may arise.

Much of his time has been spent in London and Paris, and today's advice are the first to indicate that he has been at sea with his ships.

The statement that Admiral Sims had hoisted his flag as senior allied naval officer in Irish waters led to much speculation as to what American warship he might be using as a flagship, as presumably he would hoist his flag only aboard an American vessel.

Tremendous responsibilities have been placed on Admiral Sims' shoulders. The tale of torpedoes ships in Irish waters is an oft-repeated one. It has been said even without the American vessels, the British have thousands of destroyers, submarine chasers, all sizes and kinds, mine sweepers, aircraft and every other known method of combating submarines posted in these waters in the effort to keep open the shipping lanes.

All these forces are now under Admiral Sims. On him also rests probably the duty of arranging for the arrival and departure of commercial vessels, both trans-Atlantic and coastwise, that ply Irish waters. The admiral exercises rigid control over all ship movements and no vessel leaves port until the naval commanders report the seas free of the enemy.

In some quarters it was pointed out that the announcement that the American officer, had been placed, even temporarily in command of British forces, greatly superior to those under the American flag in those waters, might have a political effect in Ireland, where the situation is turbulent with the approach of the Irish convention period. It might tend to show, beyond question, as suggested, that the British and American governments were in perfect accord.

INVESTIGATE SHOOTING OF BROOKLINE WOMAN

Suicide Idea Not Long Held Over Death of Mrs. George Kyes Who Was Found Dead With Revolver Close at Hand

(By Associated Press.)
Brookline, Mass., June 19.—The town and state police officials have started an investigation into the shooting and killing of Mrs. Pauline Kyes and several neighbors and her husband, George Kyes, have been closely questioned as to their knowledge of the affair. As yet no arrests have been made. It was at first believed that the shooting was a suicide but this was later set aside and an autopsy was ordered. Mrs. Kyes was found dead in the kitchen of the home with a bullet wound in her left temple and a shot hole in her right hand. A third shot was located in the wall of the room.

The idea of suicide was based on the finding of a note on the table addressed to her husband in which she said that she could not stand his attentions to another woman. The Kyes had been married but seven months.

The revolver with three chambers fired was found close to the body which gave the idea of suicide as probable. But the position of the wounds, in the right hand and left temple led to the belief that another person had done the shooting as Mr. Kyes maintains that she was not left handed. He also stated that he did not own a revolver and he did not believe that his wife had one, either.

One of the neighbors reported to the police that a woman had called a few days ago and on learning that Mrs. Kyes was not at home said that "she was there to tell Mrs. Kyes something to her husband in which she said that she dressed of houses whose business is to clothe women elegantly.

They are called midnettes, because mid or noon is the hour when they are to be seen by two, three and even four, arm in arm, hurrying away to creameries, lunch counters or cheap restaurants for a modest meal, or the weather permitting, to the public squares and gardens to share a lunch on a park bench and feed crumbs to the sparrows. The second syllable netto, is nothing more than a diminutive that fits them quite well. The combination midnette, might be translated "little noon girl."

The buildings from which these noon girls come are the centres of fashion in the world. In these buildings are created each season the styles that are worn in New York and London, even Japan. They are generally vast, always sumptuous with majestic liveried porters at the doors and smartly dressed waitresses inside.

Elegantly dressed saleswomen receive customers in show rooms that resemble fashionable saloons with deep soft carpets, antique furniture, princely tapestries and rare objects of art. Everything in these rooms and in the fitting rooms suggest high prices, yet on the other side of the partition that divide the show and fitting rooms from the workshop, there were before the strike, girls working ten hours to earn the equivalent of 30 cents.

Although thousands of these girls were working for a bare existence in these palaces of fashion, yet to their inborn taste and skill were due the development of these houses and the reputation of Paris as the centre of fashion. The proof of it is that dress-making concerns with a Parisian reputation have tried to do elsewhere and with other help what they did in Paris with the aid of the midnettes and failed.

A great many American women who paid hundreds of dollars for dresses made in these establishments, but the American woman does not suggest that the midnette who made her rich gown for a little less than living wages has made one like it for herself at night of the same pattern and quite as perfect in cut and fit, but of less rich material, with money saved from her lunch allowance. Few look forward to an improvement in their situation unless fortune sends a husband.

If the husband never is found, she makes fun even out of that. At the feet of St. Catherine on November 25 each year, midnettes who have reached their 25th year and pass into the category of old maids, are feted by their comrades and sometimes by their employers. It is one of the merriest fetes of the year in Paris.

RESERVIST PRAISES Y. M. C. A. FOR ITS WORK WITH THE BOYS

The Naval reserves at Portsmouth are to see active patrol service in the near future, according to a letter from one of the Manchester boys stationed on the training ship "Popokan. He writes as follows:

"With three months of intensive training drawing to a close, we are momentarily expecting orders which may give us an inkling of the part we are to play in the war. Several coast patrol boats have already arrived and are being manned. Others are expected in a very short time. The first of July is expected to bring important developments on board the "Popokan."

In the meantime the reserves are busy putting the training ship in first class condition. The boat is being painted from stem to stern, both exterior and interior. All of the work is being done by the reserves, and, in addition, the important buildings of the yard are being guarded by these same reserves. The Portsmouth men are said to be receiving better training than any other naval reserve station on the coast.

The ranks have been depleted considerably of late. Men have been sent to coast guard stations, patrol boats, transferred to other stations and transferred to other branches of the service. Saturday found a dozen men leaving for Boston, where they are to take up a course of study in a naval institution. There is a desire for active duty among many of the reserves, and it is not unlikely that some may join the regular navy or merchant marines.

FRENCH GIRLS INS TITUTE NEW STRIKE METHODS

Paris, June 19.—The sewing girls of Paris have set a new fashion in the conduct of strikes and added dignity to a dilemma that had become more or less familiar. They have shown that hob-nobbed boots and bludgeons are not the only effective means of persuasion in labor controversies.

The midnette strike is already a precedent although it ended only recently. Several strikes modeled after it have succeeded since and others are in process of settlement. Never again in all probability, will the condition of working women in Paris be what it was before, and what it had been during the war, with thousands of girls working ten hours a day for from thirty to forty cents.

"The strike was called the 'midnette' strike, though in the beginning it was purely a dressmakers' strike. The midnettes are not only sewing girls, but milliners, leather workers, embroiderers and other workers who trip out in the Bu de la Paix and other streets of Paris every noon from the num-

OFFENSIVE BY ENTENTE STARTS IN FLANDERS

(By Associated Press.)
Indications point to an early resumption of the great struggle in Belgium and France by the Entente Allies. It has not already been begun in Flanders and Champagne. Significant statements from Berlin, but as yet unconfirmed by France or England, are to the effect that the Entente has begun a new offensive in these sections. Aside from this there is nothing of importance to report, evidently, on the action against the Hindenburg line.

The report from Berlin states that in Champagne the Germans have attempted to retake the lines between Mount Blond and Mount Carnillet, which were taken by the French on May 14 but the counter attacks were repulsed with heavy casualties.

Northwest of Craonne heavy artillery action is in progress which indicates the beginning of infantry activities.

The situation in Flanders is obscure as neither the British nor French official reports carry any clear dispatches. Artillery duels are in progress between Bouslogne and Frellinghen and in the regions of Steenstraet and Het Sur, according to official reports from the Berlin war office, and to the south in France, northeast of Bapaume the British have again started their trench raiding expeditions destroying German dug-outs and capturing many prisoners.

The activity is increasing in Macedonia and along the line to the south of that held by General Sarrail's force. The Entente is massing its troops for a general assault and are pouring more troops into Thessaly. On the Greco-Serbian frontier artillery duels are in progress and the further leanings of Greece toward the Entente Allies is indicated by the voluntary turning over to the British of arms by the inhabitants of invaded towns.

THE RED CROSS SUBSCRIPTIONS COMING IN FAST

(By Associated Press.)
Washington, June 19.—Reports issued tonight at American Red Cross headquarters, based on incomplete reports from the country indicate that $35,000,000 has already been subscribed in the first two days of the campaign to raise $100,000,000.

New York Adds Large Sum.
New York, June 19.—A total of more than $20,000,000 has been raised here in the first two days of the campaign for funds of the Red Cross. It was announced tonight at a Red Cross Luncheon, $5,426,000 was added today to the subscription.

Safford Does Its Share
Portland, Me., June 19.—According to unofficial reports from the several committees of the Red Cross Campaign, Maine has already in the first two days subscribed $140,000, or more than one half of her required allotment. The town of Safford enjoys the distinction of being the first in the country, probably, to have raised its required amount in one day. On the first day $12,000 was raised for the Red Cross where only $10,000 was asked.

NORTHCLIFFE SAYS THE WAR HAS JUST BEGUN

(By Associated Press.)
Boston, June 19.—The war has just begun in the opinion of Lord Northcliffe, new head of the British mission in the United States, as expressed by him in a letter to the Boston headquarters of the American Red Cross. He continued his letter by saying that the American Red Cross had done remarkable work in France and Belgium in caring for the wounded and that this is based on his personal knowledge.

"The American Red Cross workers have established a unique reputation in France and Belgium," his letter said. "I pleased me to see the glorious achievement of the American men and women which I witnessed in the fighting about Verdun and I am confident that those who are going over to continue the work will accomplish more deeds of valor and sacrifice maintaining the great reputation already gained by their predecessors."

Former President Taft, speaking at the same meeting which heard the letter from Lord Northcliffe, said that $100,000,000 was not enough to carry on the great work. He said that this was simply the first call for immediate funds and more would follow.

DARTMOUTH TO OPEN TRAINING CAMP ON JULY 6

Hanover, N. H., June 18.—In accordance with its policy of furthering national preparedness, Dartmouth College will inaugurate on July 6 a training camp of six weeks' duration. The camp will be carried on in regular military fashion 24 hours a day with Capt. Porter Chase of the 1st corps Cadets of Boston in charge as commandant.

Capt. Chase will be assisted by Capt. Louis Keene of the Canadian expeditionary force, who has been in Hanover for the last six weeks directing the work of the student regiment in modern trench warfare. The presence of Capt. Keene at the summer camp is an indication that much of the time will be spent upon the practical applications of the lessons in modern warfare which have been learned on the western front in Europe. Expert instruction in trench building, the use of hand grenades, trench bombing and the making of barbed wire entanglements will be offered to the students of the camp.

The work in the other branches, such as close and extended order drills, field problems and target practice, will be under the personal supervision of Capt. Chase. A rifle range will be furnished by the college.

The course will be patronized mostly by college men below the draft age, students in preparatory and high schools and those who for some reason or other will be unable to enter the government training camps. The work of the camp will be so intensive that there will be no opportunity for academic work, and it is expected that there will be numerous likes and camp trips into the surrounding country. The accommodations will be looked after by the college, and undoubtedly the use of the college dormitories as barracks will be offered by the authorities.

Where Reform is Needed.

At this time of war excitement it is probable that comparatively little attention will be paid to the president's pardon of nearly 5,000 offenders against the laws of the United States who have been at liberty since the time of their trials under "suspended sentences," never having, as the president says, "served any portion of the sentences duly authorized and required by the statutes."

But, after all, this is a very important matter and one that should receive the attention of the public, which has to pay heavy bills for the maintenance of courts and prisons and the costs of detection and prosecution. Why, it is reasonable to ask, should the public be taxed for these purposes if the law is to be turned into a farce and offenders against it are to be allowed to go scot free?

The only encouraging thing in connection with this news is that the United States supreme court has issued a mandate annulling the practice of suspending sentences, which had evidently reached proportions little less than scandalous. Think of it, nearly 5,000 convicted criminals at large under "suspended sentences," "never having served any portion of the sentences authorized and required by the statutes," and now granted "full amnesty and pardon." If this is what the people of the United States want and are satisfied with they ought to have it, but they ought not to want or be satisfied with it, and it is not reasonable to believe that they do want anything of the sort.

This paper has in the past commented upon the growing practice of pardoning criminals long before their sentences have been served, among the criminals thus pardoned being many of the worst stripe, including murderers, and has attempted to make plain its belief that the practice is all wrong. There may be individual cases in which pardons may be proper, but when pardons are made the rule rather than the exception it is time for the light to be turned on and for explanations to be forthcoming.

It is not a good thing for the country or for any community to make a mockery of the law. The lawless classes note these things more quickly than any other, and their disposition to take a chance is stimulated by the knowledge that even in the case of detection and conviction they are liable to escape punishment.

The law should mean what it says, but it can not mean this if sentences are to be suspended and pardons granted before a single day of the sentence has been served. The whole policy is wrong and one that cannot be discontinued too soon. If convicted persons are to be thus treated it would be better to save the expenses of courts and prisons. It is time for reform in this field, and the decision of the supreme court to shut down on the suspension of sentences is one long step toward it.

A dispatch from London says the English people are being urged to smoke more in the interest of food conservation, the theory being that heavy smoking lessens the appetite. To smokers a good smoke after a good meal is always grateful, but it is to be feared that smoke as a means of sustenance will not be found very "filling."

Hereafter until the close of the war all navy men must wear their uniform continually. This has not been the rule in the past, but the navy department doubtless has some good reason for its action. There is one thing certain—no man in the uniform of the United States navy will need to be ashamed of his clothes.

A Brooklyn, N. Y., slacker who refused to register has been sentenced to 11 months and 29 days in prison. And this man is a college graduate and a school teacher. But is he the only man in Greater New York who failed to register? If the prescribed penalty is to be imposed it should be imposed upon all alike.

It is said that General Pershing's staff officers want action. If they will exercise patience for a little while their wishes will be gratified. There is no lack of "action" in the world drama in which they are about to take part.

This is Red Cross week, and Friday will be the great day in this city. Let all be prepared to respond to what has been appropriately designated as "the most stupendous and appealing call in the history of the world."

New Hampshire must move at once and with energy if its quota of volunteers for the regular army is to be filled on time. Nearly 600 young men are yet needed, and it is time that the boys were up and doing.

It is well that the Liberty Loan bonds are to be graced with the pictures of presidents, but why stop with McKinley? There have been some presidents since his day that make very good pictures.

From the Exchanges

Another Crown Trembling

(From the Toronto Mail and Empire)
Germany is now speculating as to what would happen if the British were to invade Holland. The next step will be for Germany to find documents proving that Britain is about to invade Holland. The final step will be for Germany to invade Holland herself.

Practical Schooling

(From the Springfield Union)
An illustrating what the Hillside School in Greenwich Village is doing in the way of teaching practical farming to its young pupils, the invitation to the graduating exercises Friday, the 29th, says: "We shall be able to show you five acres of oats, ten acres of hay, and more than ten acres of corn, potatoes, beets, peas, beans, and so forth. We also have 550 hens, 1800 chickens, four horses, nine cows, eight pigs, and so forth, all, we think, in good condition." The school is a fine institution and it is doing a great work for boys from the cities and towns of the state. In the present food situation the showing of crops and other farm products will be of more than usual interest.

Girls "Adopting" Sailors

(From the St. Louis Star)
American blimpies are to be adopted by Missouri girls. The "adopted" sailor—if he does not object—will receive letters, magazines, knitted clothes, candies and pastries from his lady friend.
The plan to establish bonds between land and sea originated with Mrs. J. Harrison Steedman, chairman of the Woman's division of the St. Louis branch of the Navy League. Her first volunteer was Mrs. Edward Schauf, St. Mary's, Mo., who is prominent in Missouri circles of the Colonial Daughters of America. Mrs. Schauf got fifty-three girl acquaintances to adopt a sailor each. The girls reside at St. Mary's, Ste. Genevieve and Perryville, Mo.

Every one of the girls displayed the proper foster interest, but some of them made the special request that their sailor be a "big, handsome man." All Missouri girls are urged to volunteer for this latest branch of service.

Two Bright Women

(From the Hartford Courant)
One of the features of the recent graduation exercises at Mt. Holyoke College was the presence of two bright women who were graduated from the old seminary in 1847, and who received their diplomas from the hands of Mary Lyon. One of them, Mrs. James Blaisdell of Charenton, Cal., came across the country unattended; the other, Mrs. Francis Chamberlain of Medford, Mass., was a shade the older of the two, but both were careful not to miss any feature of the exercises and both sat out the two-hour graduation programme on Wednesday in high spirits and both seemed mentally as young as any member of the class graduated this year. Mrs. Blaisdell for instance, who talked to the students on Tuesday evening, put short her remarks by saying, "I must stop now for a young man is waiting to take me for an auto ride."

Some of those who met the ladies were impressed by the volume of history which they had seen in the making. When they were receiving their education at South Hadley New England was agricultural and nothing special was known there about the section where Mrs. Blaisdell now lives. When they graduated the country was facing war as it is now, though it was a much smaller country and a much smaller war. They saw the country with it, saw a far greater and then a lesser war come and go, and have now lived to witness a world war, the end of which no one can foresee. Many of the things which they learned at Mt. Holyoke they have since been forced to unlearn. Perhaps doing this thing has enabled them to retain their youthful spirits.

Railroad History Repeated

(From the Albany Journal)
The sending of Americans to Russia to reorganize and reconstruct the railroad system of that country is a repetition of history. It was an American, George Whitteley, who, seventy-five years ago, went over to Moscow to build the railroad which the czar had projected between St. Petersburg and Moscow. That man, like others, was laid out to take in the main cities along the route and the tradition is that the czar, on looking over the map, laid his ruler down upon it and drew a straight line between the two termini. "Build it there," he said.

Since then, American engineering and constructive genius has been seen in many another foreign place of work. Other nations have developed their talent in war preparation; we have developed ours in the arts of peace. It is a curious turn of affairs that we are now able to make so large a contribution to our allies in furnishing them engineering and construction forces to rebuild and develop their transportation and manufacturing elements, which are showing themselves to be the larger half of modern warfare.

Evidences of German Courage

(From the Detroit Free Press)
Warm summer weather adds to the glorious exploits of German aviators whose toll Wednesday in London numbered among the victims sixty-seven children of school age, eleven of whom were killed.
It requires pluck and courage to accomplish such evidences of heroism, especially as children are known to be heavily armed and likely to attack innocent airmen when duty takes them far into the English interior. Civilians, especially women and children, have been such a constant menace to the Prussian cause in this way that it is small wonder Germany has not been reduced to defeat long before this.

If those who are calling for a peaceful outcome of hostilities could induce babies, aged women and frail young girls to renounce their aggressive measures toward the Kaiser's forces such action might have far-reaching consequences. As it is, the war must proceed in order that the sublime cause for which Germany made defensive warfare in the beginning may be upheld.

MANY GIRLS ARE MISSING IN NEW YORK

(By Associated Press.)
New York, June 6.—More than 800 girls between the ages of 10 and 20 years have disappeared since Jan. 1, 1917, according to an announcement made by Police Commissioner Arthur Wood.

He ordered the most searching investigation of the police system since that of the Rosenthal murder.

The investigation is the direct outcome of the finding of the body of Ruth Cruger, a high school graduate, in the cellar of the establishment of Alfred Cocchi, whom the Italian government authorities are searching for at the request of the state department.

(The body of Miss Cruger was not found by the efforts of the police, but by private detectives.)

SENATOR GORE DENOUNCES THE CONTROL BILL

(By Associated Press.)
Washington, June 20.—A vigorous attack was made on the administration food control bill by Senator Gore, secretary of the agriculture committee, who declared that it strikes at the farmers.

He said it meant a loss of $250,000,000 on wheat and $500,000,000 on corn and would result in a famine as fewer crops would be planted.

NAVAL RESERVE DIES OF HIS INJURIES

Hull, Mass., June 20.—Charles H. Evans of Rochester, N. Y., machinist's mate, second class, naval reserve, died at a hospital here during the night from injuries received Saturday when the coast patrol boat Wachusett was in collision in a fog with the harbor excursion steamer Old Colony. Evans' left arm was torn off and his shipmate C. H. Paulson of Mount Hope, N. Y., and four members of the coast artillery corps submitted to a blood transfusion operation in a vain effort to save his life.

MUST GIVE THE WAGE SCHEDULE A FAIR TRIAL

Otherwise Sears-Roebuck Will Move Business From Newburyport.

The Sears-Roebuck shoe factory at Newburyport, which has been closed for a few days owing to a strike among the help over a new wage schedule, opened on Tuesday, but few of the employees reported for work. The management states that the new schedule must be given a trial and if not satisfactory, a change will be made. If this is not done and no settlement can be reached, the firm will send the shoes to the several other shops and the plant at Newburyport will be closed at once.

REGAN-SULLIVAN

Another June Wedding at the Church of the Immaculate Conception.

The Church of the Immaculate Conception was the scene of another pretty wedding this morning when Miss Johanna Sullivan became the bride of Patrick Regan. The ceremony was performed by Rev. D. Alex Sullivan and was witnessed by a large number of friends of the contracting parties. The bride wore a fashionable blue tulle and white picture hat. The bridesmaid, Miss Margaret Sullivan, wore lavender broadcloth with hat to match. The best man was Joseph Hughes.

A wedding breakfast followed at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Timothy Connors, Penhallow street, consisting of lobster salad, cold chicken, olives, rolls, ice cream, cake and coffee.

PROTESTS ARE NUMEROUS

Hearings on the B. & M. Curtailment of Train Service.

The office of the public service commission was alive with hearings on Tuesday when protests came thick and fast against the Boston & Maine proposed curtailment of passenger train service. The hearing in the forenoon was upon a protest filed by residents of the towns of Fremont and Sandown against the proposed withdrawal of Train No. 300 leaving Rochester at 6:15 a. m. and due at Nashua at 8:59 a. m. The protesters contend that the withdrawal of this train will make it practically impossible for residents along the Rochester & Nashua branch of the Boston & Maine railroad to reach Boston and return on the same day.

In the afternoon the commission heard representatives of the Milford Board of Trade relative to the proposed withdrawal of trains Nos. 99 and 210 operating between Nashua and Wilton. It appears that the withdrawal of these trains leaves the city of Milford and other cities on this branch without mail service from early morning to late afternoon.

As part of this matter the commission heard representatives of the Hillsborough Mills, Wilton, upon its request for a rearrangement of the schedule of an accommodation train now operating between Nashua and Wilton, so as to make it possible for it to carry employees of the Hillsborough Mills living in Milford and from their work.

A hearing was also scheduled upon a protest by the Tilton Mills against the withdrawal of the early morning trains Nos. 443 and 449 operating between Tilton and Franklin Falls, but this hearing was canceled upon notice to the commission by the railroad that the operation of these trains would be continued.

C. S. Pierce, general solicitor, and C. M. Hart, general passenger agent, appeared before the commission upon all of the matters.

ATTRIBUTED TO GERMAN INFLUENCE

(By Associated Press)
Paris, June 20.—Two Turks, a Greek and three Spaniards who had no connection with the restaurant trade were arrested for disturbances around restaurant doors during the recent labor agitation. They were immediately sent to civilian internment camps.

A certain part of the French press attributes the interference of these foreigners to German influence or to the influence of German money which they suppose still finds its way into the pockets of individuals enjoying the hospitality of the capital and capable of turning peaceable labor manifestations into disorder and violence.

GIVEN 10 DAYS IN WHICH TO FILE ANSWER

Mrs. Florence J. Cowles Seeks Custody of Her Two Children.

In the superior court at Exeter on Tuesday, Judge William H. Sawyer heard the petition of Mrs. Florence J. Cowles, the divorced wife of Dr. Edward S. Cowles, formerly of this city, wherein she asks for the absolute custody of her two daughters, Mary and Virginia, aged 6 and 7 years respectively. Dr. Edward S. Cowles was given 10 days in which to file his answer.

Dr. Cowles had four indentments returned against him charging him with kidnapping the two children and taking them to Virginia. He has been denied a petition in which he asked the supreme court of Virginia to decide the custody of the children and set aside the decree of Judge Tyler of the civil court of that state.

The Cowles case has been the subject of a long litigation in the New Hampshire courts. Mrs. Cowles is a wealthy society woman of Brookline, Mass., and Dr. Cowles conducted a sanitarium in Portsmouth. She was granted the divorce at a special session of superior court held at Portsmouth, in August, 1916.

GIVES SMALL MORE TIME

The time of the filing of the bill of exemptions and petition for a new trial for Frederick L. Small of Mountaintown, now confined in state prison at Concord under sentence to be hanged on January 15 next for the murder of his wife Helen (Curry) Small, last September, has been extended by Judge John Kivel who is presiding at the summer term of Carroll county superior court, until Thursday, June 21 at the request of his counsel, Matthews and Stevens, of Somersworth and Judge Abbott of Wolfboro.

The bill of exemptions is a long one. The hearing on the bill of exemptions and petition for a new trial will be set by Judge Kivel at the time of the filing of the papers. There have been several stories published recently to the effect that the prisoner was breaking down under the strain of his life in prison and that it was doubtful if he would live to pay the penalty of his sentence.

Attorney Stevens of the Small case intimates there is no foundation for the stories and that Small is as cheerful and hopeful as he was the day that he entered the prison.

MEN OF PORTSMOUTH AND VICINITY RED + CROSS PUBLIC MEETING

SPEAKERS:

Frank B. Davidson, Red Cross Worker W. B. Johnston, From The Trenches

PIERCE HALL, THURSDAY, JUNE 21st, AT 6.30 P. M.

REFRESHMENTS

RED CROSS MASS MEETING FOR MEN ON THURSDAY

At the meeting of the local General Committee of the American Red Cross held on Tuesday evening at the Chamber of Commerce it was announced that the executive committee of the campaign for raising funds had secured the services of two able speakers for a mass meeting for men to be held at Pierce Hall on Thursday evening. The meeting will be called at 6:30 and much of the Red Cross work will be explained, especially the work as it is now being conducted in the field and base hospitals in war-ridden France and Belgium. The speakers are Frank B. Davidson of Boston, of the publicity bureau of the American Red Cross, and William B. Johnston, lately returned from the service on the battle fronts of France.

Both speakers have interesting stories to tell. Mr. Johnston has spent a great deal of his time in the trenches in France and Belgium, working back from the first line advance trenches through the field hospitals, and to the base hospitals, somewhere in France. But for the work of the Red Cross, largely supported and carried on by the American Red Cross, and the lives of thousands of the world's bravest men would have been lost. It is the men of the Red Cross in the field who go out into "No Man's Land" after the charge and gather in the wounded, the greater part of the time under the fire of the enemy's guns, the enemy not even holding the lives of these non-combatants sacred. And under the fire of rifles, machine guns, and great guns, these men go out night after night to reclaim the wounded, bearing them on stretchers to the field hospitals and later transferring them to the base hospitals far behind the lines.

Both Mr. Johnston and Mr. Davidson have seen the work; have assisted in it, and they are now in New Hampshire for the purpose of securing funds for the continuation of the work which may aid in saving the life of some of Portsmouth's sons before the world-war is over.

The meeting last night was opened by the Hon. D. W. Badger as chairman of the General Committee. The report of the Executive committee was received, the members of the committee being: E. C. Matthews, Jr., chairman; Frederick M. Sise, Rev. L. H. Thayer, D. B. Maynor, Ladd, Charles H. Walker and Mrs. Mary E. Wood.

The Mayor addressed the meeting giving a detailed account of the campaign which is being carried on throughout the state and he was followed by Col. John H. Bartlett, chairman of the County Executive Committee for National Defense, who outlined the plans of the committee in Rockingham County.

The committee appointed in charge of the meeting for the men included Mayor Ladd, chairman; R. Clyde Margeson, secretary; F. M. Sise, Thomas P. Flanagan and Gustave Peyser.

AIRPLANE BILL NEARING COMPLETION

Washington, June 19.—The first year airplane bill, carrying an appropriation of $600,000,000, is nearing completion and will be introduced in Congress probably Friday. It will carry an urgent recommendation from the secretary of war for prompt and favorable action.

Meanwhile, Congress wants to know exactly how $600,000,000 can be put into aircraft when airplane concerns here before have not been able to deliver 100 machines a year to the war department.

The plan of the new bill calls for production of 30,000 new machines for the first year, more than 2000 a month within a few months.

Aware of these limitations by Congress, the administration will render a detailed statement as to contemplated expenditures. This will show:

Millions for airplane engines, hundreds of thousands for wings and the like; tens of thousands for equipment and training of aviators and yet more thousands for supplies.

This statement is being prepared under the joint direction of the signal corps, war and navy departments and the aircraft production committee of the Council of National Defense. It will explain that rate plants will tender 10 per cent of their producing equipment to manufacturing aircraft engines at a reasonable profit.

To Speed Up Production
Other factories will be utilized by the government to produce planes, etc. The statement will suggest that Congress choose between government operation of the few real airplane factories in the country, or granting contracts for machines with these plants, allowing unusually high profits so that the plants may properly equip themselves to expedite the enormous work demanded of them.

The question of reasonable profit probably will be the biggest bone of contention on the bill. The statement will further explain expenses for maintaining training camps, schools for mechanical education and the like.

Aviators are now being turned out of these schools ready for practical training at the rate of about 200 a week, but this is not sufficient and a call for volunteers is under consideration.

CANADA LOSES CONTROL OF HOME OF GENERAL WOLFE.

Westchester, England, June 19.—Quebec House, the home of General Wolfe, hero of Quebec, which, before the war, was one of the show places about London for American and Canadian tourists, has passed from control of the Canadian government to the National Trust, a semi-official body which aims to preserve historic landmarks.

The home was purchased in 1913 by the late J. B. Levesque of Montreal, who wanted to maintain it as a public museum. He died before his plans could be completed but his heirs conveyed it to the Canadian government.

Owing to the difficulty of administering a trust so distant, that government preferred that the property should be vested in an English body.

The house, contains a collection of specimens of the native work of Canadian Indians and of pictures and prints illustrating the progress of the dominion. Wolfe was not born in the house but at a house close by which still exists. He spent most of his childhood days at Quebec House.

33 ARMY TRUCKS ARRIVE AT AYER

Company of Regulars Makes Record Run From Camp in Arizona.

The 33rd truck company, quarter-masters corps, U. S. A., unfurled the first United States flag over the Ayer cantonment yesterday upon its arrival after a record-breaking run from Nogales, Ariz. The company camped there last night, the first regular army soldiers under canvas upon the ground to be used by whole army divisions.

It would have taken 12 days to bring the 33 three-ton trucks and 17 enlisted men and Capt. Charles J. Nelson to Ayer from Nogales under peace conditions. Under the system perfected by the railroad the train rushed across the country in the five days. The personnel rode in a special tourist sleeper attached to the flat cars.

Capt. Nelson was in service at Brownsville, Tex., when the order came. He brought the entire equipment of a truck company. Some of the men in the 33rd were transferred from the 51st truck company. Capt. Edward Canfield Jr., construction camp quartermaster, welcomed the outfit to Ayer. The trucks were unloaded speedily. The men pitched their tents. Last night Capt. Nelson reported to Major Dwyer, department quartermaster, his immediate needs in equipment and men.

The company will be filled by drawing from the 51st reserve truck company. This unit has been ordered to Ayer and includes 31 chauffeurs and a cook. Capt. Dilling of the reserve corps will accompany the men to Ayer.

Capt. Canfield reported that satisfactory progress is being made in the construction. The Lay company is rushing things and is daily adding to its force of workmen and foremen. Material has begun to flow into Ayer. The dirt trains are filling in the ground where the truck sidings are under construction. Some of the longer shipments have been started and will arrive on specified days when the receiving trucks are completed and men are on hand to use the materials.

Army officers detailed to the northeastern department have experienced some difficulty in obtaining living accommodations. Officers of the line who are liable to call at any moment for active service cannot be themselves to a lease, nor can they bring a lot of furniture to Boston. Several of these officers are now attached to the headquarters staff who are trying to find suitable homes for their families. Bostonians intending to close up their homes for the summer would be rendering a great service to these officers if they would consent to rent their homes for a few months.

MR. BRODIE CHOSEN TO CONGRESS

After a careful examination of the election returns it has been found that Isadore A. Brodie of Manchester, the president of the Young Men's Hebrew association has been elected as representative to the American Jewish congress at Washington, which is to be held Sept. 2.

Mr. Brodie is well known by many local people and has had quite a remarkable and successful career. He was born in Russia and graduated from the gymnasium of Pinsk in the Province of Minsk, Russia, also from the technical school of Kiev, in that same place. He was the organizer and superintendent of the Y. M. and Y. W. H. A. religious school which has now six classes and an enrollment of over one hundred pupils.

He is the president of the Manchester Y. M. H. A., of which he is a loyal worker, also a member of the executive board of the New England Y. M. H. A., which has a membership of 15,000. He is the treasurer of the Free Loan association, and a contributor to all Jewish causes and charities. In society he is the past District Deputar of the I. O. B. A.; and secretary of the Manchester congress committee. He is a member of the Manchester Jewish Congregations, also of the Lights of Zion, of which he is an ardent Zionist. He is also an accomplished teacher of the Advanced Bible Class and student in the Rabbinical and Hebrew literature.

The election contest in New Hampshire was a very exciting one, as Mr. E. M. Chase, the defeated candidate claimed that he could win the election and ran on an independent ticket. Mr. Chase conducted a very strenuous campaign in all the large and small towns of the state. His managers were J. S. Mitchell, Max Feldman and Jas. Rosenbloom of Manchester.

Mr. Brodie's campaign committee of which Maurice Baumstein was the chairman, was composed of the following and they worked only in the larger cities, principally Portsmouth, Nashua and Manchester. The committee was Abraham Machinist, Samuel Finkelstein, J. Bonheur, Isaac Green, and Samuel Pimplio. Literature concerning the campaign and suggesting Brodie as a candidate was circulated all through the smaller towns and villages.

The results of the vote were very beyond the expectations, and the total number of votes cast was 1178. Each voter had to pay ten cents for his ballot and the system was used all over the country by the other states in their election and the proceeds derived from the sale thus collected will be used to defray the expenses of the congress at Washington. The report that Brodie had won the election by 130 votes which was given out last Tuesday has not been changed and he remains the candidate elected by the New Hampshire people for the congress.

Mr. J. S. Williams, who was also in the race for the election, resigned at the last hour, with only a small complimentary vote. Mr. Chase, it is understood from good authority, does not intend to contest the vote, and has not authorized any of his managers to do so.

The expenses for the Brodie campaign were supplied by the voluntary subscription of several of Manchester Jewish citizens, and his popularity in Manchester was shown by the large vote which was cast for him there, which surpassed that of his rival nearly three to one.

The report of the election was forwarded to the general board of electors at New York by Chairman Maurice Baumstein and Secretary Maurice Weismann on Tuesday morning.

The board of electors was as follows: M. Weismann, chairman; A. Machinist, J. M. Mitchellson, who succeeded Mrs. E. M. Chase after her resignation; D. Fleischmann, Harry Goldmann and Samuel Bloom. The members were Louis Resnik and Nathan Ekman. The board of electors held a meeting last Tuesday and reorganized the executive board which is as follows: President, A. Green; vice president, H. Goldmann; treasurer, M. Weismann; financial secretary, S. Finkelstein, and corresponding secretary, M. Baumstein. Other members of the board are E. Shapiro, D. Fleischmann, S. Bloch, J. S. Mitchellson and A. Machinist.

Invitations have been extended to the elected candidate, L. A. Brodie to speak at the various districts of the state, where the voting took place and they will be accepted at Mr. Brodie's earliest convenience.

The vote was as follows:

"RABBIT" HAS ENLISTED IN THE RESERVE

(By Associated Press)

Boston, June 19.—Walter J. (Rabbit) Maraville, for several years the sensational shortstop on the Boston National baseball team, has enlisted in the naval reserve, according to a statement from one of his close friends. An effort to have Maraville confirm this failed tonight as it was not possible to locate him.

ONE MAN'S AMBITION

The world was peaceful, it was thought. The last of battles had been fought. All leading nations were in fact bound in a peace compelling pact. That war could in no council be a place to yet disturb mankind in its pursuit for betterment of each condition, state, agent, among all nations. But the dream so roseate, like morning's gleam, was rudely shattered by the peal of thunder and the flash of steel. As war with startling suddenness, But terribly fierce no less, Broke forth, One man's ambition made The nation's haste to grind the blade To meet invasion from a horde That would lay waste by fire and sword.

The fairest land of Christendom, In spite of treaties war had come. Then Attila with modern trims, Enforcing "Kultur" with their guns, Forgetful of the pledges made, Both France and Belgium invade, Ignoring others' rights. Their aim One mightily empire to proclaim. Their war lord as the emperor. They pause not at the ruin nor The suffering; through millions slain They hope their object to attain. Fed on the sophistry of him Whose light of reason must be dim, Those cohorts like the Goths of old In savagery ill controlled, Nor sex nor age can even stay The "nightful" which may strike their way.

They, claiming to be civilized, Are very Vandals undisguised! Their ruler would be one with God. And walk where never mortal trod Before him. Only the Divine, Great Ruler could be in his line, For with no other he would share The sceptre. O'er earth, sea and air His rule must ever be supreme; His partner, God! A madman's dream. —J. E. Moore.

UNIQUE CASE FOR THE COURT

Seeks Administration of Estate—Husband "Probably Dead."

A unique case was presented to the York county probate court this month at Alfred. It is a case where a man disappeared four and a half years ago and has never been heard from, and the wife, brings proceedings to settle on her husband's estate, as there is strong probability that he is dead.

It is the estate of Wallace E. Percival, the Alfred druggist, who disappeared from Portsmouth, N.H., Sept. 25, 1912, and while many clues were heard, nothing developed after they were investigated.

The petitioner is Rose Percival of Biddeford wife of the missing man, and she prays that she be appointed administratrix.

His drug store continued to do business until last month, now his wife seeks permission to sell the place as she is compelled to pay rent.

Judge John P. Deering is counsel for Mrs. Percival and he has put in a good deal of his time looking up cases all over the United States which had any bearing on the Percival case. According to law a person missing seven years is legally dead. Mr. Percival has been missing four and one half years and as Judge Deering said in his petition there is a strong probability that Wallace E. Percival is dead.

It is the first case of the kind in the York county probate court for many years.

MAY SEARCH NATION FOR ANARCHISTS

(By Associated Press)
Boston, June 19.—Arrests of Anarchists throughout the country may take place following a raid on an Italian newspaper said to be an Anarchist organ, in the printing office at 32 Oxford street, Lynn, today, by secret service officials. The latter seized the mailing list of the paper, which contains the names of between 500 and 600 persons, most of whom are said to be Anarchists.
On Friday last U. S. Marshal Hancock with four secret service men descended on the office and arrested the owner and editor of the paper. He is now under heavy guard awaiting a hearing. The office has been closed since that time until today, when the secret service men entered and secured the mailing list.
It is claimed that much, if not all, of the anti-conscription propaganda that has at different times been posted about Lynn, was printed at this office, and that it is probable much of the propaganda throughout the country may have emanated from the same place.

ROOSEVELTS ARE GOING TO FRANCE

(By Associated Press)
Philadelphia, N. Y., June 19.—It was officially announced today that practically all members of the officers training camp are assured of commissions in either the regular army or the Officers Reserve Corps. Major Theodore Roosevelt and 2d Lieutenant Archie Roosevelt have been ordered to report to Governor's Island and have already left camp. It is expected that they will be ordered to duty in France.

WOMAN TO ASK FULL SUFFRAGE IN ENGLAND

(By Associated Press)
London, June 19.—The House of Commons today passed its final reading the bill relating to election reform dealing with the question of woman suffrage. The bill gives women partial suffrage at ages above 30 years. It is expected that an appeal will be made to have the bill amended to grant suffrage to women on equal terms with men.

BRITISH LABOR LEADER ATTACKS FOOD SITUATION

London, June 19.—Robert Smillie, President of the Miners' Federation of Great Britain, often described as the most powerful labor leader in the United Kingdom, attracted attention to himself recently by making a violent speech at Newcastle in which he attacked the food situation in this country. The Miners' Federation is the largest single trade union in the country, with a membership of more than a million men.

Smillie attacked the men who, he said, are building back foodstuffs and making profits out of the poor. The Russian revolution, he said, took place owing to shortage of food, and he did not believe that the people of this country would let their children starve while there was food in the country. Smillie lives at Larkhall, in Scotland. He was mining in Lankashire as a boy twenty years ago, and has lived all his life in Scotland. In 1886 he was appointed secretary to one of the branches of the Scottish Miners' Union, and

THE LOUISE LOVELY TRENCHE

Unique honors have been conferred in the far off French battle fields upon Louise Lovely, the dainty Universal Star appearing in the new Hulton picture, "The Field of Honor."
A French soldier, an Australian soldier in the heart of the fiercest fighting of the present campaign, has been christened "The Louise Lovely Trench" and in addition the soldiers have named their howitzer "Louise" in her honor.

Louise Lovely is an Australian and is ever dear to the hearts of the people there than she is to her host of admirers in America. That explains why she has just received in Universal City a letter from a company of "Anzac" gunners telling her about the honor accorded her.
The letter is a strange one. It is written on a piece of brown wrapping paper, and placed in a home-made envelope. It was signed by every man in the company, and told her of naming the trench and howitzer after her.

"Yesterday we opened fire with 'Louise,' the letter went on to say, 'and bombarded the bully enemy with her for nineteen hours.'
Miss Lovely is highly appreciative of the honor conferred upon her, and is making up a box to send to her gunners which will contain a remembrance for each of the men whose signature is attached to the letter.
"I have never received anything which touched me so deeply," she said, showing the precious piece of wrapping paper. "To think that men in the stress of war should remember a girl from their own country, whom they had seen only on the screen! I do so hope that my latest photograph will reach them. I think the story of 'The Field of Honor' would be one after their own hearts. I am prouder of the Louise Lovely Trench than of anything else in the world."
"It ought to appeal to them that this," Butterly was written by Brand Whitlock, the United States Minister to Belgium, for it was the violation of Belgium's neutrality which sent England to war, and brought the men of my country to help her."

MONUMENT TO GERMAN SAILORS IN BRITISH CEMETERY AT FOLKESTONE

Folkestone, Eng., June 19.—In Folkestone cemetery where the majority of the victims of the German aeroplane raid of May 25 were buried, there is a large monument over the graves of German sailors killed there 30 years ago. The monument was erected at the expense of the German government.
The sailors belonged to the crew of the German ironclad cruiser Kurfurst, which was sunk in collision with the Konig Wilhelm near Folkestone. The victims were buried in batches as their bodies were recovered, with full naval and military honors, and tributes paid by the townspeople to the German dead. To show his appreciation for the hospitable treatment accorded the survivors of the disaster, the German Emperor, William I, the present Emperor's grandfather, sent to the Mayor of Folkestone a splendidly bound Bible for use in the parish church.
The fishermen of Folkestone rescued many Germans at the time of the disaster, which caused the loss of 284 lives, and the Emperor presented several gold watches bearing the Imperial arms in recognition of the gallant services of the rescuers.

BRITAIN PAYS HIGH FOR LABOR FOR NATIONAL WORK.

London, June 19.—It has cost the government about $50 for every man it has placed on work of national importance, according to figures given in the House of Commons the other day on the results of the National Service scheme.

Of the 307,000 volunteers, an official of the ministry of labor explained that approximately 130,000 were munition workers, or otherwise not available for other employment than that in which they were engaged.

SOCKS CONTRACTS FOR THE NAVY ARE AWARDED

(By Associated Press)
Washington, June 19.—Contracts for 3,567,200 pairs of socks for the American navy department were awarded to eighteen firms in different parts of the country today by Secretary Daniels. The contracts were placed on the advice of the Kait Goods Committee of the Council of National Defense. The average price is 18 cents per pair for cotton socks and 23 cents for woolen socks.

BRITISH HONOR ADMIRAL SIMS AS EXECUTIVE

(By Associated Press)
London, June 19.—The American Navy has been "put a high honor" through the ruling of the British Admiralty that Vice Admiral Sims, commander of the American fleet operating in European waters, was to raise his flag as commander in chief of the Allied naval forces on the Coast of Ireland during the absence of the British Admiral in command of the operations.

DECLARES MEN ATTACKED HER

New York, June 20.—A woman giving the name of Miss Consuelo Larin was found yesterday in a vacant lot suffering from injuries received by a fall from an open window. She said she had jumped from her room to escape two men who had attacked her because she gave information which led to the discovery of the body of a girl.
The men called her to the door of her apartment, the woman said, on the pretext of having a telegram to deliver. One of the men, she added, grabbed her by the throat and said "You are not going to tell anything more."

Police officers who discovered the injured woman searched her room, but found no trace of visitors or a struggle other than an overturned chair and the broken window.
Among other details of the Grange case developed today was the finding of a dark grey chauffeur's uniform buried in the tunnel that hid the murdered girl's body.

VALLEY FORGE ARCH PRESENTED TO STATE

Valley Forge, Pa., June 20.—Marking the site of the encampment of Washington and his army during the winter of 1777-78, a memorial arch, for which congress appropriated $125,000, was presented to the state yesterday by Champ Clark, speaker of the house of representatives, on behalf of the government. More than a hundred senators and congressmen who came here by special from Washington, attended the exercises.
Governor Heintzbaugh accepted the arch on behalf of the commonwealth.

WOMEN AND MEN ON SAME PAY SCALE

Washington, June 19.—Women employed by the navy department are to receive the same pay as men holding similar positions. Secretary Daniels wrote yesterday in response to a query from Mrs. Carrie Catt, president of the Women's Franchise Association.

ORDER ARMY PHYSICIAN ARRESTED

New Brunswick, N. J., June 19.—A warrant for the arrest of Dr. William J. Condon, a captain in the United States army medical corps at Chattanooga, Tenn., was issued here today in connection with the murder of John V. Piper, a University of Vermont graduate whose body was found with a bullet wound in the breast, near Spotswood, N. J., last Saturday.
Piper had been a student at Rutgers college. He disappeared Feb. 17, Saturday his body, half incinerated, but still recognizable, was discovered near a road by workmen.

Piper, who lived in a suburb, was working his way through college by tending furnaces and doing odd jobs for prominent New Brunswick families. Among the families for whom he worked was that of Dr. Condon. The physician was in active practice and was well esteemed here. The last home at which Piper was seen to call on the night of Feb. 17 was Condon's.

When the body was found Saturday, physicians discovered a hole in the breast made by a bullet of the same caliber as that carried by a weapon found on the Spotswood-Englishtown road earlier in the day. The decomposed remains had apparently been tossed from a wagon or an automobile into the bushes.

Piper's disappearance had made him to become an unsolvable mystery up to the time the body was found. Piper's wife always maintained that her husband had been murdered, although for a time his friends thought the young man's mind had become deranged from overwork.

Capt. Condon is about 38 years of age. His home life was entirely happy. Condon officials refused today to explain the reasons why they believe he committed the crime, nor the theory of the motive of the murder. One point still to be explained is what became of the body during the four months Piper has been missing. An autopsy last Saturday revealed that the man had been dead since about the date of his disappearance.

Capt. Condon left New Brunswick last Thursday for Fort Oglethorpe, Ga. Dispatches received today said he was being held by the military authorities at Chattanooga pending arrival of a representative of New Jersey.

Prosecutor Strickler this afternoon asserted the authorities were now in complete possession of the evidence showing how Piper was killed, including how his body was disposed of and who drove the automobile from which the body was thrown.

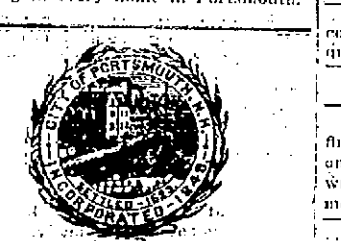

FOUND LARGE AMOUNT OF BURIED TREASURE

(By Associated Press)
Mexico City, June 19.—The authorities of the state of Hidalgo have uncovered and taken charge of a large quantity of buried treasure, according to a statement issued here by the department of finance. This treasure, which consisted of gold bars was found in a cave and is supposed to have been hidden there by bands of Zapatistas, which for many months ranged the hills of this section. It is thought the gold was taken by Zapatistas from the mines and haciendas looted by the band and that they were cut off from the cave before they could remove it.

STRANGE TALE FROM KOREA

Seoul, Korea, June 19.—The police are investigating the circulation of a fabulous story credited by the superstitious Koreans that a nine-tailed fox appearing in the form of a woman roams at night in the evenings telling children that she can foretell their future by licking their hands with her tongue. The Koreans declare that the children die suddenly. Many of the housewives lock their gates before dark to prevent the visit of the supposed fox.
